4709 A 8th Ave NE - 2

Seattle, WA 98105

This Addendum is an attachment to the Rental/Lease Agreement entered into by the Landlord and Resident(s) and by this reference, is binding upon the Landlord and Resident(s) as provided below:

We want your home to be as comfortable as possible for you during your tenancy with us. Consequently, we believe it is important for you to know that you will be residing in a high-humidity coastal environment where exercising property ventilation and moisture control precautions will help insure your comfort. Please adopt the following guidelines to avoid developing excessive moisture in your home:

1. Keep all furniture, boxes, suitcases, etc. at least one inch away from the wall (even in closets), allowing air to circulate freely.
2. When cooking, showering, or doing laundry, turn on the vent fans, and leave them on for 30 minutes after said activity.
3. Window locks have been provided in your unit to allow you to ventilate your home daily. Constant fresh air flow is imperative to help prevent moisture from becoming trapped within your home.
4. If you choose to keep your windows locked when you are not home, use of vent fans will help maintain air flow throughout your residence while you are away.
5. Leave bedroom, bathroom, and closet doors cracked open as much as possible to promote positive airflow.

6. Use of dehumidifying crystals is suggested for closet areas where ventilation and air is difficult to achieve.
7. A minimum apartment temperature of 65 degrees is suggested to prevent excessive moisture.
8. When cooking pasta, rice, or beans, cover pot, use exhaust fan, and open the kitchen window at least one inch.
9. Wipe out window tracks regularly to avoid moisture buildup. If you have a lot of water in the tracks, please notify the landlord.

If you should notice excessive moisture developing in your home, please contact us immediately so that we may assist you in eradicating the moisture and review your ventilation habits with you prior to any damage occurring. Landlord shall not be responsible for damage to resident's personal property where mildew has been allowed to proliferate. Mildew/mold is not considered normal water wear and tear. You can and will be charged for removal on vacating the dwelling.

7.10 BED BUGS - A GUIDE FOR RENTAL HOUSING RESIDENTS

Bed bugs, with a typical lifespan of 6 to 12 months, are wingless, flat, broadly oval-shaped insects. Capable of reaching the size of an apple seed at full growth, bed bugs are distinguishable by their reddish-brown color, although after feeding on the blood of humans and warm-blooded animals—their sole food source—the bugs assume a distinctly blood-red hue until digestion is complete.

Bed bugs don't discriminate

Bed bugs increased presence across the United States in recent decades can be attributed largely to a surge in international travel and trade. It's no surprise then that bed bugs have been found time and time again to have taken up residence in some of the fanciest hotels and apartment buildings in some of the nation's most expensive neighborhoods.

Nonetheless, false claims that associate bed bugs presence with poor hygiene and uncleanliness have caused rental housing residents, out of shame, to avoid notifying Landlords of their presence. This serves only to enable the spread of bed bugs.

While bed bugs are, by their very nature, more attracted to clutter, they're certainly not discouraged by cleanliness.

Bottom line: bed bugs know no social and economic bounds; claims to the contrary are false.

Bed bugs don't transmit disease

There exists no scientific evidence that bed bugs transmit disease. In fact, federal agencies tasked with addressing pest of public health concern, namely the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency and the Centers for Disease Control Prevention, have refused to elevate bed bugs to the threat level posed by disease transmitting pests. Again, claims associating bed bugs with disease are false.

Identifying Bed bugs

- Because bed bugs leave some persons with itchy welts strikingly similar to those caused by fleas and mosquitoes, the origination of such markings often go misdiagnosed. However, welts caused by bed bugs often times appear in succession and on exposed areas of skin such as the face, neck and arms. In some cases, an individual may not experience any visible reaction resulting from direct contact with bed bugs.

- While bed bugs typically prefer to act at night, they often do not succeed in returning to their hiding spots without leaving traces of their presence through fecal markings of a red to dark brown color, visible on or near beds. Blood stains tend also to appear when the bugs have been squashed, usually by an unsuspecting host in their sleep. And, because they shed, it's not uncommon for skin casts to be left behind in areas typically frequented by bed bugs.

Bed bugs can often be found in, around and between:

- Bedding
- Bed frames
- Mattress seams
- Upholstered furniture, especially under cushions and along seams
- Around, behind and under wood furniture, especially along areas where drawers slide
- Curtains and draperies
- Along window and door frames
- Ceiling and wall junctions
- Crown moldings
- Behind and around wall hangings and loose wallpaper
- Between carpeting and walls (carpet can be pulled away from wall and tack strip)
- Cracks and crevices in walls and floors
- Inside electronic devices, such as smoke and carbon monoxide detectors

Preventing bed bug encounters when traveling

Because humans serve as bed bugs' main mode of transportation, it is extremely important to be mindful of bed bugs when away from home. Experts agree that the spread of bed bugs across all regions of the United States is largely attributed to an increase in international travel and trade. Travelers are therefore encouraged to take a few minutes upon arriving to their temporary destination to thoroughly inspect their accommodations, so as to ensure that any uninvited guests are detected before the decision is made to unpack.

Because bed bugs can easily travel from one room to another, it is also recommended that travelers thoroughly inspect their luggage and belongings for bed bugs before departing for home.

Bed bug do's and don'ts

- Do not bring used furniture from unknown sources into your dwelling. Countless bed bug infestations have stemmed directly from the introduction into a resident's unit of second-hand and abandoned furniture. Unless the determination can be made with absolute certainty that a piece of second-hand furniture is bed bug-free, residents should assume that the reason a seemingly nice looking leather couch, for example, is sitting curbside, waiting to be hauled off to the landfill, may very well be due to the fact that it's teeming with bed bugs.

- Do address bed bug sightings immediately. Rental housing residents who suspect the presence of bed bugs in their unit immediately notify the Landlord

- Do not attempt to treat bed bug infestations. Under no circumstance should you attempt to eradicate bed bugs. Health hazards associated with the misapplication of traditional and non-traditional, chemical-based insecticides and pesticides poses too great a risk to you and your neighbors.

- Do comply with eradication protocol. If the determination is made that your unit is indeed playing host to bed bugs, you must comply with the bed bug eradication protocol set forth by both your Landlord and their designated pest management company
